INSTITUTO DE INVESTIGACIÓN DE LAS NACIONES UNIDAS PARA EL DESARROLLO SOCIAL

El Instituto de Investigación de las Naciones Unidas para el Desarrollo Social (UNRISD) es una agencia autónoma que se encarga de hacer investigación multidisciplinaria sobre las dimensiones sociales de los problemas contemporáneos que afectan al desarrollo. Su labor se guía por la convicción de que para formular políticas de desarrollo efectivas es crucial comprender el contexto sociopolítico. El Instituto trata de ayudar a los gobiernos, agencias de desarrollo, organizaciones de base y académicos, a entender mejor como las políticas de desarrollo y los procesos de cambio económico, social y del medio ambiente afectan a diferentes grupos sociales. Trabajando con una extensa red de colaboración de centros de investigación nacionales, UNRISD tiene como objetivo promover estudios originales y fortalecer la capacidad de investigación en los países en desarrollo. Actualmente, las áreas de investigación son las siguientes: Sociedad civil y movimientos sociales; Democracia, gobierno y derechos humanos; Identidades, conflicto y cohesión social; Política social y desarrollo; y, Tecnología, empresa y sociedad.
